

'UNIVERSITIES, COMMUNITIES AND THE FUTURE OF KNOWLEDGE DEVELOPMENT IN AUSTRALIA' BY DR BARRY JONES

Dr Barry Jones, AO, is a writer, broadcaster and former Labor Minister, serving as Australia's Science Minister from 1983-90. His published work includes Sleepers, Wake!; Technology and the Future of Work; Dictionary of World Biography, a best seller, most recently revised in 1998 and; his autobiography, A Thinking Reed, published in October last year. In 1999 he was appointed an Adjunct Professor at Monash University and elected as a Visiting Fellow Commoner at Trinity College, Cambridge. He was a Vice-Chancellor's Fellow at the University of Melbourne between 2005 and 2007 and is currently a Professorial Fellow at the University.

When: Tuesday 4 December, 3pm - 4pm

Where: CSU Albury City Campus,
Olive Street, Nowik 1

Cost: Free

Contact: Lisa Mangelsdorf, Head of Campus Office, CSU
lmangelsdorf@csu.edu.au or (02) 6051 9806

