

CSU - the making of me!

Students from India share some special highlights of their time at CSU

"At CSU the lecturers are interesting, friendly and approachable, and the study resources are plentiful. I would recommend international students live on campus for a semester or two, and then move into the campus city community to get used to living in Australia. Being a student here isn't like at home. It is relaxed and fun if you let it be. At the same time, it is important to keep the focus and not let the studies slacken. Blend in and enjoy the people. They are fun, friendly and accommodating. The CSU staff are also helpful, so do not hesitate in getting in touch with them, no matter what the situation is."

Small and specialised lectures

"I chose to study at CSU because it had a good reputation and Albury had all the attractions of a big city without the costs. Living and studying in a smaller community has also allowed me to meet many different people. Everyone here is so friendly and it is very easy to get involved in social activities. It's just not the other students who are friendly - the lecturers are very friendly and accessible and above all, they provide extra time for international students."

"I feel like my course at CSU is really preparing me for a job in the real world. I have had six placements during my course, of which I have finished five in different hospitals both in the city and rural areas. It was a great experience to work in different environments and treat people from different cultural backgrounds."

Mandeep Singh, Bachelor of Physiotherapy, CSU, Albury-Wodonga Campus

"I discovered CSU through a colleague. I liked the fact that CSU recognised my Master degree and that I didn't have to be in Australia to complete a PhD Dissertation. The distance education delivery of study with the feedback from the principal supervisor and email communication have been excellent. I have made friends through my study with CSU and one of my supervisors was instrumental in having me as the keynote speaker at a recent Medical Imaging and Therapy Conference in Australia."

Euclid Seram, PhD in Medical Science by distance education

"I chose CSU because it is a world renowned university known for quality education, and it offered the course I intended to study. My economic situation and family circumstances didn't allow me to undertake full-time study but CSU's distance education associate program's flexibility helped me fulfill my desire. CSU's online system allowed me to interact with other students and staff members of the University. The exam was online which was convenient, as I took my exam at home after work. I submitted my assignment online which goes directly to the lecturer for evaluation. I was very happy when I got Credits and Distinctions for my assignments. The subject I studied was related to my career and now I am very confident to work with hybrid cameras."

Muralidaran, Master of Medical Radiation Science, Associate Student Program by distance education
