

Philosopher Wins Vice-Chancellor's Award for Teaching Excellence

It has recently been announced that the winner of the 2008 Vice-Chancellor's Award for Teaching Excellence is Dr Graeme McLean of the School of Humanities & Social Sciences, Wagga Wagga Campus.

Prof. Carmen Moran, Head of School, School of Humanities & Social Sciences, congratulates Dr Graeme McLean on his outstanding contribution and sustained commitment to teaching and learning. Dr McLean is the recipient of the 2008 Vice-Chancellor's Award for Teaching Excellence.

It was stated in a report on Dr McLean's teaching that he has the... ability to engage the students' interests and facilitate their involvement with (apparent) ease. Among other reasons, Dr McLean received the eminent award because of his... innovation, absolutely meticulous preparation and..... deep concern for the student experience.

Dr McLean is the discipline coordinator of Philosophy.
